5. RCS Phase 2 Update

Lorna Parkins (Michael Baker Intl.) provided an update on scenario planning, developing inputs for the travel demand and Tredis models, and the performance dashboard. Craig Eddy (Michael Baker Intl.) also provided the status of the project website, Phase 2 schedule, and Phase 2 deliverables.

6. RCS: Review, Discuss, and Finalize Preliminary Alternatives

Craig Eddy provided a status of Phase 3 including preparation for a virtual scenario planning meeting and analysis of Preliminary Alternatives.

For the Preliminary Alternatives discussion, Craig provided a background of the project scope, vision, goals, and objectives. His presentation included maps of the segments from the HRCS SEIS that were specified to be part of the RCS effort, as well as additional candidate segments received through stakeholder interviews. The group discussed the potential segments and alternatives to review and analyze as part of the study. Jason Flowers (USACE) read a statement regarding the Corps' federally mandated position to maintain and protect navigable waterways, channels, and access. After much discussion, there was concurrence among the members of the Working Group that the following candidate segments (shown on map provided at meeting) not be forwarded for analysis:

- Segment 1: New bridge over James River, includes improvements on Rt 10 to US 17
- Segment 4: Ferry service, Hampton to Norfolk
- Segment 5: New bridge tunnel from NIT to Hampton

The Working Group also discussed at length the potential future need and scope of the VA-164 Connector and whether it should remain an RCS segment for consideration. For now,

VA-164 will remain a potential segment since it is one of the mandated segments to analyze. Future discussions with all impacted stakeholders will continue at future meetings.

Bryan Stilley asked if the Corps could provide more information/data on widths/depths/etc. for navigable channels for the consultants to use as a resource in this study. Jason Flowers stated that he could get data to the consultant team.
